Imagine becoming a prisoner to bring joy to people.

Is this a strange occurrence?

USPA NEWS - This is happening in Iran!

Imagine living in a country where an elderly person joyfully engages with fellow citizens, dancing on a makeshift stage. Recognizing the bleak state of people's spirits, this individual endeavors to bring smiles to the faces of those in a city enveloped in darkness. At a time when citizens are weary from government embezzlements and well-aware of the thefts by the country's leader, Ali Khamenei, the people struggle with extreme poverty, the inability to afford rent, and challenges even in buying basic necessities like meat. Every day, inflation rates soar higher, and the people find their hope dwindling.

Esteemed readers, this is not a romantic tale but an account of the recent events unfolding in Iran.

Imagine in these horrific conditions where people are in the depths of despair, a elderly person named Sadegh Boqi makes the greatest effort to bring smiles to these hopeless faces.

In the past 16 months, numerous youths have lost their lives due to street protests, direct shots by the regime's forces following the orders of the dictator Ali Khamenei. Many intellectuals and students are enduring the worst possible conditions, facing severe torture in political prisons for opposing the dictatorial and brutal regime of Khamenei. Brave women in Iran are fighting against compulsory and oppressive hijab laws, as well as religious and political violence against women, landing many of them in prison. Moreover, girls' schools are repeatedly attacked by the forces of the brutal dictator Khamenei with toxic gases, leaving many schoolchildren seriously affected. The country's most courageous artists, who oppose the dictatorial and extremist Islamic regime in Iran, are being held in political prisons. Eminent poets who are critical of the ruling mullahs are under house arrest, and many university professors, who sided with protesting students, have lost their jobs and are enduring the worst forms of torture in political prisons.

Due to political issues and cultural poverty, many Iranians are subjected to harassment and oppression by the regime, and numerous doctors and specialists have been forced to leave their homeland, accepting forced exile. Many others have been compelled to flee Iran due to political problems and the coercive nature of Islam, as they opposed the policies and compulsory nature of the Islamic religion that does not include any citizen rights for the people of Iran. One of the greatest blows to the people of Iran in terms of spiritual damage is the beginning of the terrorist war and the brutal attack by the proxy and terrorist group Hamas, commanded by the terrorist leader who is none other than Ali Khamenei. This has put the people of Iran under psychological pressure because they are aware of the historical relations between Iran and Israel, even in the Bible where the name of Cyrus the Great, one of the best kings in Iranian history who built the first Jewish temple in Jerusalem, is mentioned 19 times.

And always, the people of Iran, both in history and at present, have been supporters of Israel and stand with Israel. They repeatedly recall the good relations between these two countries. However, currently, the people of Iran feel a deep sense of shame and embarrassment due to the existence of a brutal and insane regime, truly a cancer in the Middle East, led by the terrorist leader Ali Khamenei.

But they cannot confront this brutal regime easily because the Islamic Republic of Iran, under the rule of the insane Khamenei and with the existence of the terrorist group IRGC, easily shoots those who seek peace and are averse to violence and detest war.

They kidnap many young girls from Iran and take them to political prisons, where they assault them sexually and engage in deliberate and purposeful execution, which is one of the most brutal forms of murder. Remember Mohsen Shekari?

His only crime was setting a plastic trash can on fire during protests.

Do you know he was executed for that?

Do you know he was 23 years old? Remember Kian Pirfalak, a 9-year-old child who was murdered by the direct shooting of the ruthless and brutal terrorists of Khamenei?

Do you remember Sarina Esmaeilzadeh, a young and knowledgeable girl who was shot dead by the direct fire of the Sepah terrorists for a completely peaceful protest? Do you remember Nika Shakarami, who was abducted by Iran's security police, subjected to numerous sexual assaults, and eventually murdered? Do you remember Khodanour Iejai, a 28-year-old who died from thirst in prison?

These are just a fraction of the recorded crimes in the history and minds of Iranians committed by the Islamic system and the regime led by the world's largest dictator, Ali Khamenei, in the past year. The number of crimes that have occurred is very, very high, and cannot be fully written in this article. This is the situation in Iran.

What you can do as peacemakers?

How can the people of Iran achieve freedom? An independent Iran benefits everyone. Imagine, imagine, imagine. These events have happened in Iran, and now a person named Sadegh Boghi is in political prison for the crime of dancing and bringing joy to these people who have a lot of sorrows!

Would you still remain silent and not defend human rights? What can you do for this oppressed deed? Talk to them, ask your government to expel the diplomats of the brutal Khamenei regime from your country. Ask your government not to engage in any dealings with this brutal Islamic system.

Ask your government to list the Sepah terrorist group as a terrorist organization. Inform your government that as long as the Khamenei regime is in power, peace in the world is meaningless, and the war in Israel will not end because Khamenei is the godfather of all Islamic terrorists. Inform your government that drones made by the Islamic Republic of Iran continue to prove their capabilities by targeting cities in Ukraine. Ask your government to strive to help the people of Iran so that they are no longer suppressed. Tell your government that the only way to create peace is a complete change and revolution in the entirety of the Iranian regime.

This article could be a danger for me, but isn't peace and global tranquility a shared desire? So, I declare that this article represents my personal opinion, and in the event of any attack by the Iranian regime against me, under the name Saman Hajibabaei, I request you to be the voice of the Iranian people and strive for freedom and a peaceful, prosperous life.

Thank you very much for taking the time to read this article.
Wishing global progress without war and turmoil for Ukraine

the sacred Holy of Israel,
Iran, and the entire world and the entire world. Hoping for a day when no child sleeps in fear of war, with their thoughts focused on progress and learning.
